Boston, Massachusetts – Bay State Physical Therapy, Massachusetts’ leading provider of physical therapy services, is pleased to announce that it has acquired the Brookline and Newton locations of Wellbridge Physical Therapy.

Wellbridge has been serving the Brookline and Newton communities since 2013 and has a strong reputation for providing high quality clinical care.

“Wellbridge’s great reputation as a provider of high-quality care in the area caught our attention as we looked to expand our ability to serve the Greater Boston market,” said Dr. Steve Windwer, founder and CEO of Bay State Physical Therapy. “Our focus on high quality clinical care and service excellence will allow us to continue to provide patients the experience and patient-centric approach that drew them to Wellbridge. We are also very honored to welcome the employees, patients and families of Wellbridge to the Bay State family,” said Windwer.

Wellbridge’s current ownership will be moving out of state and desired to find a partner that would continue their legacy of care and provide a growth opportunity for their team members. Owners Jessica and Vladimir Shursky noted that “Bay State Physical Therapy felt like the right match. We both started our careers at Bay State Physical Therapy and knew that their care model was a great fit for our patients and team members. It’s difficult to move away from the relationships that we’ve established, but we believe that the culture and legacy of our clinics will continue to flourish with Bay State.”

The acquisition of Wellbridge’s Newton and Brookline locations reflects Bay State’s continued desire to enhance access and better serve its patients and partners. Since its inception, Bay State Physical Therapy has prioritized the outcomes and experiences of its patients and will continue to invest in developing New England’s clinical leader in physical therapy.
